

Daniel Csillag, CEO Graphisoft

Daniel Csillag is Chief Executive Officer of Graphisoft, one of the world's leading software companies for architects. In this role, he focuses on strengthening the company's global business, customer relevance, and long-term role in the evolving AEC technology landscape.

Daniel brings more than 25 years of leadership experience in technology, digital transformation, and construction software. He was named CEO of Graphisoft in February 2024, returning to the Nemetschek Group after previously serving as CEO of Nevaris and General Manager of Bluebeam for the DACH region. During his earlier time with the Group, he was also responsible for acquiring 123erfasst, a mobile cloud solution for data collection on construction sites.

Before joining Graphisoft, Daniel served as Chief Revenue Officer at Thinkproject, a construction and asset management software provider. Earlier in his career, he held senior leadership roles at Transtec, Bechtle, Exact Software, and Sage, where he led international business activities, enterprise sales, and business software divisions.

Daniel is passionate about building strong, accountable organizations where transparency, trust, and open dialogue help teams perform at their best. At Graphisoft, he is committed to empowering architects and engineers with technology that supports better design, greater productivity, and a more sustainable built environment.

Daniel holds a master's degree in economics from the University of Tübingen in Germany. Outside work, he enjoys climbing, travelling, and good food.
